Healthcare in St. Lawrence County

CANTON-POTSDAM HOSPITAL FOUNDATION | 2018 ANNUAL REPORT

About the Canton-Potsdam Hospital Foundation

The CPH Foundation was established in 1985 to serve the hospital by encouraging gift support from individuals and organizations. Today, the Foundation conducts annual and capital campaigns, accepts memorial and planned gifts, coordinates grant applications on behalf of the hospital to government and private funders, and offers named gift recognition for major donors. The Foundation also oversees invested funds to ensure the long-term future of the hospital.

For more than 30 years, the Foundation has partnered with Canton-Potsdam Hospital and the community to ensure that the highest quality, patient-centered medical and healthcare services are available to the people of St. Lawrence County.

Through careful planning and stewardship, the CPH Foundation ensures this same level of care will be available to our family, friends, and neighbors in the future.

What does quality healthcare mean to you?

It means having primary care physicians you can trust and the specialists you need close to home. It means developing relationships with healthcare providers and knowing there is good communication among your doctors.

We have raised four children in St. Lawrence County and have, at one time or another, needed an obstetrician, a pediatrician, a cardiologist, an allergist, an orthopedic surgeon, an ophthalmologist, a physical therapist and an emergency room physician (more than once!).

In each case, we received high-quality care from first-rate medical professionals.

That's not something you can find in most rural communities.

High-quality, patient-centered healthcare. It's about you.

A Message From the Executive Director

Every patient sitting in our waiting rooms has a story to tell: a woman who is waiting for the results of her biopsy to ascertain if the lump is benign or malignant; a man who recently experienced a heart attack and is in for a follow-up; parents who have brought their infant son to the emergency department because he is having difficulty breathing; or a grandmother who is anxiously awaiting the birth of her first grandchild. Patients of all ages, backgrounds and experiences come to Canton-Potsdam Hospital for their healthcare needs.

We are here for you and because of you.

As medical care evolves, your ongoing investment is helping to build new facilities and incorporate state-of-the-art technologies and techniques that help reduce recovery times and optimize treatment outcomes.

The most recent example of this is the achievement of the Level III Trauma Center designation. This means CPH meets state and nationally recognized standards in providing care to the most critically injured patients. This designation also makes our hospital the only Level III Trauma Center north of the NYS Thruway in the Central New York region. (To learn more about Level III trauma care at CPH, see page 7.)

This report recognizes the donors who together contributed nearly $520,000 to the Canton-Potsdam Hospital Foundation between January 1, 2018, and December 31, 2018.

It is because of you that our community's future looks healthy and strong. Thank you for your commitment to Canton-Potsdam Hospital.

April L. Grant, Executive Director
Canton-Potsdam Hospital Foundation

Canton-Potsdam Hospital's new outpatient procedure building, shown here in an artist's rendering.

Canton-Potsdam Hospital received formal approval from the New York State Department of Health to build a two-story outpatient procedure building on the hospital's main campus at 50 Leroy Street in Potsdam.

"Community trends and procedure volumes drive the need for change to accommodate shifting demands, and construction is fundamental to meeting those demands," says David B. Acker, FACHE, president and CEO of St. Lawrence Health System and Canton-Potsdam Hospital.

Completion of the new $10.5-million facility will move ambulatory surgery services out of the main hospital to allow existing services to be further modernized and enhanced.

Ophthalmology, gastroenterology, and pain management procedures will predominately relocate from the hospital to the first floor of the new building. The facility will house a general procedure room and two endoscopy rooms.

Some specialty procedures will continue to be performed at the hospital. The second floor of the new structure is expected to house outpatient infusion and outpatient cardiology testing. It will also include the following physician practices: ENT, general surgery, cardiology, and gastroenterology.

Construction for the project is underway and is expected to be completed in fall 2019.

Breaking Ground

A new 20,000-square-foot outpatient building supports ambulatory surgeries and medical services, increases efficiency and enhances the delivery of patient-centered care.

Grateful Family Makes Giving to CPH a Priority

In 2010, Thomas Alzo was a college student on spring break in Florida when he suffered a serious eye injury.

That he was thousands of miles away from his Canton, New York, home made the situation that much worse for his parents, Nancy and Mike Alzo. "We were anxious to get him home," says Mike. "But the ophthalmologist there did not want to send him back unless we had an eye doctor here who could manage Tom's recovery."

That's when they reached out to Dr. Kris VanWagner, DO, an ophthalmologist who had just joined the CPH medical staff.

"Dr. VanWagner responded immediately and was very attentive," says Nancy. "Tom had to be seen every day during the early stages of healing. When the day came for Tom to return to college, Dr. VanWagner arranged to meet with us in between his surgeries and set up Tom with a doctor in Ohio."

In the end, thanks to Dr. VanWagner's expertise and compassionate attention, Tom's eye healed. Today, he is a teacher at St. Mary's School in Canton.

For years, the Alzos made annual donations to the CPH Foundation as part of their commitment to support local charities and nonprofits in the North Country. After Tom's injury, they decided to make support of the hospital and healthcare a priority.

Today, they give monthly to the Hospital Foundation to ensure that high-quality care remains available to their own family, as well as to their friends and neighbors.

"We have spent 35 years in the North Country. It's wonderful to be able to live in a place like this and know you have great healthcare when you need it," says Nancy.

Collaboration and innovation are fueling the future of healthcare throughout the world and here, at Canton-Potsdam Hospital.

A Message From Our President and CEO

This past year brought exciting new initiatives and partnerships: a growth in services, medical staff and facilities, as well as the continued advancement of our mission to provide skilled, compassionate, cost-effective care that meets our community healthcare needs.

At Canton-Potsdam Hospital, innovation takes many forms. A reimagining of space has resulted in the renovation of the observation unit (doubling the capacity from five to 10 beds); the creation of an expanded, state-of-the-art critical care unit to support our new Level III Trauma designation; and the commencement of construction of an outpatient procedure building that will allow for a more patient-centered manner of delivering care.

The recruitment of specialists in areas like neurology, gastroenterology, pain management, pediatrics, obstetrics and cardiology means patients have local access to high-quality individualized care. We continue to actively recruit for a pulmonologist/intensivist and psychiatrists to help meet the critical care, chronic disease, and substance use disorder needs of the North Country.

Healthcare attracts individuals who have a strong commitment to serving others, and Canton-Potsdam Hospital attracts the very best of this extraordinary group of people. We believe in our purpose; we believe in our mission; we believe in each other; and, because of this, we believe deeply in our future. I hope you do, too.

Thank you for your continued confidence and unwavering support as we carry out our work to provide a higher level of care for you, our community.

David B. Acker, FACHE

Committed to Our Community

Canton-Potsdam Hospital works for a healthy St. Lawrence County through high-quality medical care that relies on the latest technology, as well as community wellness initiatives, including health education programs, events clinics, workshops, and screenings.

Here are a few of these initiatives:

WALK WITH A DOC

CPH medical personnel have partnered with the St. Lawrence County Public Health Department and its Bridge to Wellness partners to encourage county residents to take a step toward better health with Walk with a Doc. The health program brings doctors and members of the public together to walk the last Saturday of every month. Doctors also provide insight into the long-term health benefits of an active lifestyle.

Walk with a Doc events this past year were held in Waddington, Gouverneur, Massena, Potsdam and Ogdensburg. For more information on 2019 dates and locations, visit <https://walkwithadoc.org>.

Walk with a Doc is a national non-profit organization that encourages healthy physical activity for people of all ages.

HELPING THOSE WITH CHRONIC ILLNESSES

Individuals with chronic illnesses, such as heart failure, diabetes, bronchitis or emphysema, often live with difficult and debilitating symptoms, as well as the stress that comes with managing these types of conditions.

Launched in 2014, CPH's community-based Health Coach Program partners with local universities to benefit individuals with chronic illness, while providing students from Clarkson University, St. Lawrence University, and SUNY Potsdam with practical healthcare experience.

In the first semester, students learn about chronic illnesses, disease management, and the challenges of rural healthcare. The following semester, each student is paired with a client from the community.

"The health coaches meet weekly with clients in their homes," says Carolyn Zanta, PhD, who recently joined CPH as the new health coach advisor. "The goal is to prevent readmissions to the hospital by encouraging people to better manage chronic illness through lifestyle changes, including better nutrition and increased physical activity, in addition to whatever medicines they have been prescribed."

One recent development has been the involvement of CPH pulmonologist Dr. Frederic D. Seifer, MD, FCCP. With consent from his patients, students in the program observe Dr. Seifer as he uses motivational interviewing techniques to elicit information from his patients. This is done through an observation room in his office and by live video chat.

"It's an incredible opportunity for students interested in healthcare careers to see how doctors and nurses interact with patients," says Zanta.

Laurie May White, Physical Rehabilitation Department supervisor, with a student athlete.

YOUNG ATHLETES BENEFIT FROM FREE SCREENINGS

For children and teens, playing sports is a rite of passage.

Yet even with improved protective equipment, serious concussions occur. According to the Centers for Disease Control, there are nearly 3.8 million incidences of sports-related concussions every year.

“Concussion changes the way a person thinks, acts, sees and functions,” says Terri Simzer, PT, DPT. “In the past, there was a reliance on symptom reporting. Today, the emphasis has shifted to more objective information gathered prior to a concussion.”

Since 2016, physical and occupational therapists at CPH have provided free baseline concussion screening for young athletes throughout the county. The testing yields data related to balance, eye movements, and memory/concentration to create a record of an athlete’s normal neurological state. In the event of a suspected concussion, the testing is repeated and compared with the baseline.

This information can help doctors develop an individual treatment plan or guide decision making as to when an athlete might be cleared to return to play.

CPH clinicians have held screenings at Lisbon, Norwood-Norfolk, and Colton-Pierrepont schools. They have completed baseline testing for the Massena and Canton Pee Wee Hockey Associations, and held an in-clinic screening at the Canton Physical Therapy Department.

WISE COMMUNITY, WISE CHOICES
LUNCHEON SERIES

This monthly luncheon series is free and open to the public. Topics in 2018 included healthy living choices for cardiovascular health, improving the patient-healthcare provider experience, and infection prevention.

PARTY WITH A PEDIATRICIAN

CPH partnered with the North Country Children’s Museum in Potsdam to host Party with a Pediatrician events. Last December’s Holiday Party with a Pediatrician featured Syed Wali, MD, who answered questions (with help from a couple of puppet friends!) about holiday and toy safety, avoiding a sugar overload, and other health-related topics. Healthy holiday snacks, giveaways, full access to the museum, and a puppet show, rounded out a great event for children under 12 and their adult companions.

Striking Out Cancer

Strong community ties and a commitment to support cancer care are the driving forces behind Becky Good's successful fundraising efforts on behalf of the Canton-Potsdam Hospital.

Each summer for the last 10 years, women's softball teams from across the North Country — and as far away as Syracuse, Burlington, and Plattsburgh — convene in Massena, New York, to participate in the Fight Like a Girl softball tournament to raise money for breast cancer care in Northern New York.

"We have a great relationship with Canton-Potsdam Hospital," she says. "We can see the impact we are having, and the people at the hospital let us know that they value our partnership. They'll also come out to watch the championship game. We've even had CPH employees play in the tournament!"

"It's an opportunity for women to help women. Everyone has been touched by cancer."

— Becky Good

"We have 20 teams that participate," says Becky Good, a member of the Massena Women's Softball League. "Word gets around that it is a well-run tournament for a great cause. So, it's easy to get people to come out and play."

Good has been involved in organizing the tournament since its earliest days and serves as the event chair. "The original tournament raised funds to benefit mobile mammography. We have grown bigger over the years and have raised and exceeded our fundraising goal every year but one."

The $15,000+ raised by the 2018 tournament was directed to the Patient Navigation System at the CPH Center for Cancer Care. The Program improves access to, and timeliness of, cancer services.

Since the tournament supports CPH, it is eligible to receive Action Grants from Arconic, where Good works as a maintenance mechanic, and from Alcoa, where McCann is employed. In 2018, CPH received an additional $10,000 through the softball fundraiser, which was recognized as the Action Grant of the Year.

HARD HATS FOR OCTOBER

For the past three years, Good has organized the Hard Hats for October fundraising event at Arconic. Each employee who donates $25 receives a pink hard hat to wear for the month in honor of breast cancer awareness.

The Arconic Foundation recognized Good and the tournament as a 2018 Month of Recognition Awardee, an honor that included a $10,000 grant. But Good and her softball teammates and friends aren't in it for the recognition.

"It's an opportunity for women to help women. Everyone has been touched by cancer."

$100,000+ FOR CANCER CARE

To date, the annual charity softball tournament has raised more than $100,000 for cancer care in the North Country, with nearly $75,000 dedicated to the Center for Cancer Care at CPH.

For Good, a Massena native who resides in Brasher Falls with her wife, Kelly McCann, and their three children, keeping the money local is important.

“With the nearest Level I Trauma centers nearly three hours away in Burlington and Syracuse, it was extremely important that we elevate the level of trauma care available closer to home.”

— St. Lawrence Health System and CPH President and CEO David B. Acker, FACHE

CPH Receives Level III Trauma Designation

In 2018, Canton-Potsdam Hospital received full designation as a Level III Trauma Center. New York state has four levels of trauma center designation. Level III designation means CPH meets certain criteria to provide life-sustaining care to critically ill or injured patients, according to protocols established by the state and the American College of Surgeons (ACS) Committee on Trauma.

This includes performing life-sustaining surgery and working with emergency services personnel and Level I and II Trauma centers to coordinate care and transfers when necessary. Trauma care begins at the scene of an accident or medical emergency and continues in the ER, the operating room, the intensive care unit, and rehabilitation.

Two years ago, Mark Healey, MD, FACS, a board-certified critical care, trauma and general surgeon, joined CPH as the trauma team’s medical director. “Our team is trained in trauma response for scenarios such as severe car and motorcycle accidents, gunshot wounds, stab wounds, traumatic brain injuries, burns, and falls. We have 24-hour coverage by emergency medicine physicians, on-call surgeons and anesthesiologists, and provide continuing education for the trauma team.”

Dr. Healey worked with Jason Lorenc, MD, emergency medicine chair; James Barr, trauma program manager; Tammy Sykes, RN, director of the Emergency Department; and a host of others to meet the stringent ACS trauma standards. The hospital has recruited additional specialists to support non-emergency and trauma-related patient needs.

Intensive Care Unit Renovation

Critical care is for hospital patients with serious health problems who require intensive care and monitoring by a specially trained team of medical professionals.

Last fall, Canton-Potsdam Hospital began a project to relocate, expand, and update its critical care unit facilities.

The four-patient intensive care unit (ICU) is currently being expanded to accommodate up to six patients, and relocated from the second floor of the hospital to a larger, third-floor space that previously housed in-patient detox services (which have been moved to Gouverneur Hospital).

“The additional capacity will benefit our patients and help support additional critical care need as part of the hospital’s recent Level III trauma care designation,” says Brent Bishop, assistant vice president of Strategic Planning and Business Development at CPH.

When the project is completed in spring 2019, CPH will house the most modern ICU in the North Country.

“The fully modernized space is designed to further elevate the level of medical services that we can provide to our critical care patients and their families,” says Dr. Imre K. Rainey-Spence, MD, a hospitalist who joined CPH in 2013. “It can be very challenging for these patients and their families to be transferred to another hospital away from home.

“With the expanded capacity in the new ICU, and thanks to up-to-date technology and medical specialists who have joined the hospital’s medical team, the need to transfer patients is becoming increasingly rare.”

Ambassadors for Healthcare

The Canton-Potsdam Hospital Guild

The Canton-Potsdam Hospital Guild is a group of highly motivated volunteers from the community who are passionate about high-quality healthcare and Canton-Potsdam Hospital.

“We are a committed group,” says Suzanne Dougherty, CPH Guild president. “It’s a lot of work, but we have a lot of fun.”

The CPH Guild was formed in 2017 through the unification of the E.J. Noble Guild and the Potsdam Hospital Guild. The E.J. Noble Guild of Canton was established in 1951, and the Potsdam Hospital Guild was organized in 1933. Over the years, the combined total raised by the guilds is nearly $2 million.

Today, the CPH Guild is made up of an 18-member Guild Board of Directors and 150+ Guild members who together donate thousands of volunteer hours each year in support of the hospital.

“Guild members assist as needed at blood drives and hospital events, and we operate the CPH Gift Shop, which is our largest revenue source,” says Dougherty. “We also raise funds through annual community events like the Winterfest luncheon in Canton, a summer garden tour and a golf tournament. Smaller initiatives include a Christmas tree raffle, a trivia night, and a garage sale.”

Their biggest fundraising event is the annual golf tournament. “It’s held at Partridge Run Golf & Country Club, and we have many committed golfers who return each year. This year’s tournament, scheduled for July 13, will be our 25th anniversary. In that time, the tournament has raised more than $375,000 for the hospital.”

In 2017-18, the CPH Guild raised nearly $58,000 that was directed toward such patient care items as IV pumps, a defibrillator, a vital signs machine, a neoBLUE Bili-Therapy Lamp, and patient mobility equipment. Smaller grants for departments and projects were also distributed across the hospital.

The Guild supports the Center for Cancer Care, the SUNY Canton Annual Nursing Scholarship, and continuing education scholarships for CPH employees.

Last year, the Guild received a $10,000 bequest from the estate of Dorothea VanNess, a former Guild member, and her daughter Susan Sewall. The Guild donated the money as an unrestricted gift to CPH’s Center for Cancer Care. A plaque honoring the gift has been placed in the center’s coffee bar.

To learn more about the Guild or to become a member, contact Suzanne Dougherty at (315)265-2775.

CPH Foundation Event – Once Upon a Summer’s Night Dinner and Dance

On July 31, 2018, 118 people enjoyed an evening of dinner and dancing while raising more than $28,000 for Canton-Potsdam Hospital. This year’s event, which will include a silent auction, will be held on June 13, 2019, at The Stables at Windy Point in Potsdam. Mark your calendars and dust off your dancing shoes!

Meet DR. GWEN BONNER
GENERAL SURGEON

General Surgeon Gwen Bonner, MD, was born in the North Country and her parents attended Clarkson University. While the family moved away years ago, Dr. Bonner returned to the area in 2018, joining the medical staff at Canton-Potsdam Hospital.

“This is where my roots are,” she says. Dr. Bonner earned her medical degree from the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center, and is board certified by the American Board of Surgery.

“I’m happy to be back in the North Country and provide patients with modern, personalized surgical solutions.”

Meet DR. RAFI YUSUF
FAMILY MEDICINE/PRIMARY CARE

Rafi Yusuf DO, joined the Canton-Potsdam Hospital medical staff last fall. Prior to his arrival in the North Country, Dr. Yusuf was a resident physician at Brookhaven Memorial Hospital Center in Patchogue, New York.

He earned his medical degree at Touro College of Osteopathic Medicine in Harlem. He has New York State Licensure for Medicine and Surgery, and is board eligible by the American Osteopathic Board of Family Physicians.

“The North Country is a strong community where everyone can count on each other.”

A LASTING LEGACY

Foster and French Society

Gift Planning Ensures the Future of Canton-Potsdam Hospital

Bequests from Henry Foster and Gilbert French received in 1920, helped to establish our hospital, which opened, March 13, 1925. Today, as part of the hospital's long-term investments, bequests continue to move CPH forward, advancing healthcare in our community and ensuring it for the future.

Please consider including the CPH Foundation in your estate plans. We will work with you and your advisors to integrate your philanthropic vision into your tax, estate and financial planning, enhancing your legacy for your family and for the Canton-Potsdam Hospital Foundation.

To learn more about creating your own legacy for our community through an estate gift to support the Canton-Potsdam Hospital Foundation, contact

Primary Care Health Centers

CPH's Patient-Centered Medical Home model is designed to deliver healthcare service that specifically meet the needs of our communities.

CPH's Primary Care Health centers provide immediate access to comprehensive, affordable, efficient, and high-quality healthcare – whether individuals need a routine check-up or want to make an appointment with a specialist.

Primary Care Health Center locations

Brasher Falls: 899 NY Highway 11C

Canton: E.J. Noble Building, 80 East Main Street

Colton: 8 Gulf Road

Norfolk: 35 West Main Street

Potsdam: Cheel Medical Campus, 49 Lawrence Avenue

The Afterhours Walk-in Clinic in Canton provides treatment for adults and children for non-life-threatening illnesses or injuries. Clinic staff can help patients find primary care providers and provide referrals to specialists.

The Urgent Care Center in Potsdam is not for emergencies but for a patient who really cannot wait for an appointment. On-site lab and x-ray services are available, as well as referrals to a specialist or primary care provider.
